

Confirm Your Call and Election

Confirm Your Call and an Election

The purpose of this document is to confirm a call and an election. First we must define them before we can confirm them.

Elections and Calls Defined

An election defines a specific role in an organization for a specific purpose or period of time. A call defines a person's character for all time. In terms of teamwork, a call is a person's overall gifts and abilities, while an election is the way the team owner has chosen to use that person's gifts and abilities. An election defines a specific role designed by the owner for his purpose. A call is who you are in Christ including who you will be in heaven. A call is your personal Word of God. Whenever you want, he will communicate with you concerning your Word. So, a call defines your personal relationship with God, while an election defines your personal relationships with other people, including the courtesy that goes with those relationships.

Elections and Calls Confirmed

Now that we have defined calls and elections, we can focus on how to confirm them. We confirm them the same way we confirm anything God places on our heart. We beg him for our heart's desire until he either gives us the spirit of belief or he changes our heart. Our calls or elections are confirmed when we believe. Belief is spiritual. We will experience belief as a supernatural gift from God, not something we conjure up on our own. The evidence of belief is when we spontaneously praise and thank God for his deed that has yet to happen.

Summary: Confirm Your Call and an Election

The purpose of this document is to confirm a call and an election. An election defines a specific role in an organization. A call defines a person's character for all time. In terms of teamwork, a call is what a person knows about his overall gifts and abilities, while an election is the way the team owner has chosen to use that person's gifts and abilities. An election defines a specific role designed by the owner for his purpose. A call is who you are in Christ including who you will be in heaven. We confirm calls and elections the same way we confirm anything God places on our heart. We beg him for our heart's desire until he either gives us the spirit of belief or he changes our heart. In other words, they are confirmed when we believe. Belief is spiritual. We will experience belief as a supernatural gift from God, not something we conjure up on our own. The evidence of belief is when we spontaneously praise and thank God for his deed that has yet to happen.